

Healthcare Scientists and Cancer Diagnostics

ETC County Hall, 18th July 2018 Cancer Diagnostics Event in London: How Can Scientists Contribute Towards Meeting Rising Demand?

Are you a Healthcare Scientist/ AHP working directly or indirectly in Cancer Diagnostics? The Scientific Team within NHS England's Medical Directorate (London Region) in partnership with the Chief Scientific Officer (CSO) and NHS England's Transforming Cancer Services Team are organising an action learning event on the 18th of July, that sets out to explore novel approaches to delivering cancer diagnostic services within the context of rising demand and increasing workforce pressures.

This one-day event aims to:

- Explore the evolving roles of the Healthcare Scientists in cancer diagnostics and the workforce of the future.
- Share translational science and novel approaches to delivering diagnostics across Healthcare Science disciplines.
- Give Healthcare Scientists a forum to engage in shaping cancer pathways and influence the commissioning of services.

The target audience Healthcare Scientists, AHPs – Radiographers, Cancer Patient Representatives, Cancer Commissioners Representatives, Cancer Charities Representatives and any Healthcare Professional directly or indirectly working in Cancer Diagnostics.

Register at:

<https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/e/cancer-diagnostics-how-can-hcs-contribute-towards-meeting-rising-demand-tickets-45930799257>

Breakfast, lunch and refreshments will be provided.

For any queries, please e-mail us at ela.bardan@nhs.net or call us on 011382 51974.